Applying for a Zoning Amendment

Zoning is a legal method that communities use to guide the physical development of land and regulate the types of uses that may be allowed on each parcel of property within the city. Zoning laws typically specify the areas in which residential, industrial, commercial, or recreational activities may be permitted. For example, a residential zone might allow only single-family detached homes as opposed to duplexes or apartment buildings. A commercial zone might permit only certain types of commercial land uses.

The land use ordinance (formerly zoning ordinance) generally consists of two parts: a zoning map and text. The zoning map illustrates how the city is divided into different zoning districts. Zoning districts common to most community ordinances include residential, commercial, industrial, and agricultural. The zoning map shows precise boundaries for each zone. Therefore, most zoning maps generally use street or property lines as zoning boundary lines.

The land use ordinance text serves two important functions. First, it explains the zoning rules that apply in each zoning district. These rules typically establish a list of land uses permitted in each district plus a series of standards governing lot size, building height, and required yard setback provisions. Second, the text sets forth a series of procedures for administering and applying the land use ordinance. The text is divided into “chapters” and “sections” for ease of reference.

Overview:

A resident, property owner, or business in Murray City or any other interested party may request an amendment to the Murray City land use ordinance. The information in this form describes the process and requirements for requesting a change to the City’s land use ordinance. Generally, there are two types of land use ordinance amendment applications.

1. A land use ordinance text amendment is a change to the actual language of the land use ordinance found in Title 17 of the Murray City Code. An example of a text amendment may be a modification to the requirements or restrictions of commercial or residential land uses in the City. The text amendment must be clear in its intent and easily understood. Text amendment should be formatted and presented as an “insertion” in the existing land use ordinance.
2. A zoning map amendment is a change to a zoning boundary or type of zoning district listed on the Murray City zoning map. By changing the assigned zoning district, the land uses allowed within the zone also change.

Amendments to Conform to the General Plan:

If the meeting date falls on a holiday, check with planning staff for the date of the meeting. This meeting is attended by representatives of the various city divisions who provide additional insight or information which will be useful to the Planning Commission to make a decision.

Step 4. Attend Planning Commission Meeting. The applicant will be sent a copy of the planning commission agenda and staff recommendation in advance of the meeting date. Information on the agenda will give the date, place and time of the meeting. The applicant or an authorized representative must be in attendance at the meeting. If no applicant is present, the Planning Commission will move on to the next agenda item. It will be up to the applicant to reschedule another hearing date and pay the appropriate fee. The applicant should be prepared to present the proposal in detail and answer questions from the Planning Commission members and other interested parties. Following the public hearing, the Planning Commission will make a recommendation to the City Council regarding the application. An application may be "tabled" or "continued" if the Planning Commission needs additional information or time to consider the application. Following the Planning Commission motion to recommend approval or denial of the request, the application will be forwarded to the City Council for a public hearing at a later date.

Step 5. Attend City Council Meeting. Once again, you should be prepared to attend and present your proposal and answer any questions during the public hearing held before the City Council. Following the public hearing, the Council will make a motion and vote on the application (unless the application is continued for further consideration). The decision of the City Council, acting as the City's legislative body, shall be final.
